

London MPs in ministerial positions July 2024

As well as Prime Minister Keir Starmer (MP for Holborn & St Pancras), so far twenty of London's 59 Labour MPs have ministerial jobs in the new Government. Three sit around the Cabinet table – Tottenham's David Lammy is Foreign Secretary, Wes Streeting is Secretary of State for Health & Social Care, and Streatham & Croydon North's Steve Reed takes over at DEFRA. Ealing North's James Murray and Hampstead & Highgate's Tulip Siddiq move into key roles they both shadowed in opposition as Exchequer Secretary and City Minister respectively. Lewisham North's Vicky Foxcroft is also a Government Whip.

In a surprise move, three newly-elected MPs skip the traditional backbench apprenticeship jumping straight to the frontbench. Georgia Gould (Cabinet Office) and Miatta Fahnbulleh (Energy Security and Net Zero) become Parliamentary Under-Secretaries, with Finchley & Golders Green's Sarah Sackman appointed Solicitor General.

One appointment so far missing is Minister of London.

The Shadow Secretary of State for DHCLG (was DLUHC) is Kemi Badenhoc. Hornchurch & Upminster's Julia Lopez becomes Shadow Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport.
